Recycle with Michael

by Nick Price, Wrexham C B Council

Recycling is getting easier!

Most households in Overton will, by now, have received their green bin, box, bag and information pack.

The green box is for food and drink cans, glass bottles and jars and plastic bottles (no other plastic packaging). The green sack is for newspapers, magazines and junk mail - please, no cardboard. The green box and sack will be collected every week on your collection day by the recycling crew.

The green bin is for garden waste only. That is, the material that grows above ground and its roots; no rubble, timber or other garden debris please. It should be put in the bin loose (not bagged). The green bin is collected on your collection day one week, the rubbish bin the other week by the bin crew.

There is no limit to the amount of recycling can be put out for collection. If after the first few collection cycles you think you need an extra recycling box or sack please ring the Helpline: 01978 292085 or e-mail: recycling@wrexham.gov.uk

There will be a small minority of properties that we are unable to provide with the service at this time due to access difficulties but the majority of households will be able to participate fully. You will be amazed at the difference recycling makes to the waste that is normally placed in your ordinary household bin, as well as the difference it makes to the environment.

For more information telephone 01978 292085 or e-mail recycling@wrexham.gov.uk or check website www.wrexham.gov.uk/recycling

The Harvest Supper

by Josie Ralphs, Treasurer of Cytun

The Cytun Harvest Supper was held in the Village Hall on Fri. Sept.22nd. This is the 3rd year that we have held it and it has grown in numbers from 60 in our first year, around 70 last year and this year we catered for 80! Everyone agrees that it is a grand evening, with good food, in tasteful surroundings. All the committee worked very hard on the day to get all the food prepared, tables laid, everything served and then the washing up! We all ended up very tired—with "never again" in our thoughts, but of course some of us will carry on.

Then there was the entertainment - to begin with the school children sang to us beautifully and then after our meal Jerry Martin led us in community singing with his tenor voice ringing out as clear as a bell. Our grateful thanks go to all the organisers, the providers of the food, the shoppers for the wine and groceries and the washers up as well as the entertainers for once more giving us a wonderful Harvest Supper Evening. Long may it continue. Proceeds will go to Charity.

COUNTRY BEAT

by Constable Darren King

Please note the following which has been brought to our attention. This has been highlighted in the local press and via the North Wales Police ecomms system, but I've included it here in case you missed it.

A card is posted through your door from a company called PDS (Parcel Delivery Service) suggesting that they were unable to deliver a parcel and that you need to contact them on 0906 6611911 (a premium rate number. DO NOT call this number, as this is a mail scam originating from Belize. If you call the number and you start to hear a recorded message you will already have been billed £15 for the phone call. If you do receive a card with these details, then please contact Royal Mail Fraud on 02072396655 or ICTIS (the premium rate service regulator) at <http://www.icstis.org.uk> or your local trading standards office. This is a genuine scam. This service is under investigation by ICSTIS. Please be aware of this scam and forward this information to as many persons as possible.

On a separate issue, upon the evening of Thursday 28th September 2006 a motorist reported that a wire had been placed across the road on School Lane. This wire was approximately 4 feet off the floor and it is believed that it was deliberately placed to cause injury or damage. Thankfully this wire was seen and taken down before anyone was hurt. This is a serious matter. Common sense should show that, if for example a motorcyclist had hit this wire, the injuries could have been fatal. Enquiries are underway to identify the idiot(s) involved and I urge anyone with information to get in touch with me.

Thank you.

Ramblings From the Rectory

by David Lewis

Dear Friends,

One day a little boy asked his parents "How do wars break out? How are they declared?"

So the father, who was very learned in economic matters, started talking about wheat, oil and all the things that divide the world.

But the mother thought the little boy was far too small to understand such things and she said, "Let me explain it."

The mother began to explain and the father grew angry and a great argument developed, with much shouting and hand gestures.

The little boy was very frightened indeed and held up his hands and cried,

"Stop, stop! Now I know how wars begin."

That little boy found out first hand how little things can develop into huge arguments and disagreements, which can take on a life of their own. This November we shall remember once again those who lost their lives in the two world wars and countless other conflicts since. Remembrance Sunday will ask us to pray for peace. But peace starts in our own hearts and in our own relationships.

I along with you and millions of others was shocked by the school massacre in the Amish community in the United States on October 2nd. The person, who shot those little girls, had dropped his own children off only minutes before going into this community to senselessly kill and maim. It was said that one of the reasons this man did this dreadful thing, was because of an incident that happened when he was 12 which had remained unresolved within him, festering away leading in the end to violence.

Another ten-year-old boy said this, "If you want to stop war in the world, stop war in the home."

This Remembrance Day may we remember this old Hindu proverb,

"The wise man looks inside his heart and finds eternal peace."

May that be true for us all?

Your friend and Rector

David

The NSPCC needs your help The local Branch had been raising funds for over 50 years. We hold fashion shows, coffee mornings, cookery demos to name a few. Can you spare a little time to help? Contact Janet Edwards 710277 or Lorna Burdge 780228 & see details of our Xmas Market on Page 8.

On Remembrance Sunday the British Legion, Scouts, Guides and Brownies will be parading to the Overton War Memorial. As "old soldiers" fade away it is the youth of the village that is helping to keep the memories alive.

Bonfire night!

Remember, remember the fifth of November,
Gunpowder, treason and plot,
I see no reason why gunpowder treason,
Should ever be forgot !
All of us from the Kids Page hope you have great bonfire night but remember to stay safe!

- Always wear gloves when handling sparklers
- Never go too close to a firework. Let the adults set them off and stand well back.
- If you have pets, always keep them inside when the fireworks are going off as they are frightened by screechy noises and will not appreciate it!
- And remember to have a great time!!!

TRACING THE ANCESTORS

A few weeks ago the Oracle was contacted by Bob and Mary Hetzel of Richmond, Virginia, USA who were planning a trip to the UK and were interested in tracing some of Mary's ancestors, whom she believed came from the Overton area. After a quick check of the 1841 census we were able to assure Mary that indeed we had found her family living in 1841 in Knolton.

It was Mary's birthday when they visited Overton. Many thanks to Euan Stevenson for making the Church records available and finding the baptism of Mary's gr. gr. grandfather in 1842 and confirming that the family had indeed been farmers at Knolton Farm.

Bob & Mary getting the feel for olden days farming

And many thanks to the Latham family who entertained Bob and Mary to tea and showed them the farm where Mary's ancestors had lived.

Look for the full story of the families emigration from Overton in 1850, soon.

Race Day Traffic Update

by David Burton

In case it wasn't clear last month traffic on race day directed by AA signs from the A483 will go along Argoed Lane to the racecourse and come back along Turning Street through the village. In response to comments - the race traffic from Marchwiell & Whitchurch direction is still going through Bangor-on-Dee.

AUTUMN SONNET

by Margaret Evison

*Bold Autumn has unfurled her leaves of gold.
Red apples clinging to the trees above
Soft summer days we long to keep on hold
Clinging to warmth and sunshine we so love.
Children seek conkers midst the falling leaves
Their eyes alight like berries after rain.
While swifts no longer sweep amongst the eaves.
Tall tractors carry maize along the lane.
Coldness and frost will soon transform this scene
And noisy fireworks splinter the dark sky.
A hint of wind is blowing sharp and keen.
Wishes can not our winter thoughts deny.
Away with this sad muse of wintry days,
Bright fires and books will fill our lazy gaze.*

Walking with lions

by Natalie Stevenson

Having travelled and worked abroad extensively over the last 10 years I decided that this year my trip was to be something a bit different; a conservation project. Looking at all the options, the one that appealed was a lion breeding project in Zimbabwe. So after a lot of paperwork and injections I eventually found myself travelling all the way from Overton to Antelope Park, Zimbabwe for a month of working with lions.

The first surprise I got was that the owner of the park only had one arm – yes, the other arm had been ripped off by a lion! The idea of the project is to breed lions for re-introduction back into the wild, thereby boosting the ever decreasing lion population in Africa. In 1985 there were an estimated 250,000 lions in Africa; in 2005 that figure had dropped to 23,000 (due largely to increase in human habitation thereby decreasing lion habitation, hunting, snaring and poaching and disease outbreak such as Anthrax and Bovine Tuberculosis). There are no illusions that the African continent could again sustain 250,000 lions ; there is neither sufficient room for them nor sufficient prey species for them to feed on. However, the remaining dramatically reduced population of lions continues to decrease – to such an extent that the African lion is now officially on the list of vulnerable species.

One of my key tasks was to bottle feed, accompany and observe cubs (ages ranging from 3 weeks to 2 years old) everyday, walking and playing with them. Being sociable animals, the lions come to accept us as part of the pride and are quite happy to interact with humans. Of course they are still wild animals so there are certain rules to adhere to, particularly with the larger cubs – you must be confident at all times – you can not panic, run or crouch down. You must stay in the group and if a lion stalks you (which is normal) you have to walk towards them, point a stick at them and say NO in a firm voice.

We also got to take the older lions out hunting, which was certainly not for the faint hearted; on the one hand I wanted the lions to do well but I did feel sorry for the prey – to have a huge lion thundering behind you and jumping onto you with dagger like claws must be terrifying! My whole time involved in this project was incredible ; every morning I was awoken at 4.30am by lions roaring, and over a course of time I got to know each lions personality.

Natalie and two of the pride

Captive bred lions can, and have, been rehabilitated into the wild. There are 4 stages to this program :

1. young cubs (2-16 months) will spend as many daylight hours in the wild as possible with experienced handlers and volunteers. At this age the lions are able to successfully stalk and hunt down small prey.
2. Lions too old to walk with humans (they are at an age where it is too dangerous to do so) are given the opportunity to hone their hunting skills. Here we take the lions out – we ride in a jeep and they follow. Their ability to hunt is monitored closely.
3. From stage 2 the lions will be translocated in selected breeding groups to fenced mini eco systems where there are no humans, no other lions and sufficient prey.
4. Lions in stage 3 will give birth to cubs in a totally natural environment which will be able to be reintroduced into game reserves and National Parks.

I am so pleased to have been involved in supporting the welfare of this magnificent animal, which certainly lives up to the title of 'King of the Jungle', and to have had the opportunity to be part of a pride.

Congratulations to Overton football team for reaching the top of Division One in the Nizam-Druid Welsh National League

They offer a range of fun activities for children and lots of opportunities to learn.

OVERTON MEDICAL PRACTICE

The big important issue at this time of the year is the flu injection. It is very important that those aged 65 or over, or who fall into the 'At Risk' categories do take up the offer and get their injections booked. We cannot, at this time, give flu injection appointments to anyone else. If this situation changes we will make it known in the surgery.

The triage system is working very well but has a few problems. If we have to call you back make sure there is someone there to answer the phone. Medical results are given out by the surgery's secretaries. We offer this service 11:30am – 3:00pm week days (Thursday half day 11:00 – 12:00). The surgery telephones are not available from 1 – 2pm each day during the lunch hour. Please allow 5 days for the results to come back and be reviewed by the doctor.

Car parking can sometimes be a bit of a problem. Please do not park on the main road outside the surgery. Do not forget the large public car park on Church Lane with access through to the surgery. This option is far safer and means the spaces at the front of the surgery can be kept for those with mobility problems.

In October our own Dr Charlotte Koundakjian became Dr Charlotte Jones. We wish her every happiness in her married life and she sends her thanks to everyone for the cards and good wishes she has received. We were sorry to say goodbye to Donna Kendal, our part-time receptionist who left on 6th October. Donna has taken up a permanent post near her hometown of Barrow and we thank her for all the hard work, always with a cheerful smile, and wish her every success for the future.

The Practice Patient Participation Group met again on Monday 23rd October at 6pm – we are still anxious to get new members, please come along and join us at the next meeting if you can.

View from the Village Vets.      WARNING: Don't read this whilst eating spaghetti!!

Worms! The fascination of small children and the delight of horticulturists, but sadly I'm not talking about Earthworms.

All animals will be exposed to parasitic worms at some time in their lives. Most live in the intestines although there are also lungworms and heartworms (until recently only ever found overseas). You will not always know if your animals have worms - it is usually only with a severe infestation that it will become apparent.

In sheep and cattle this may show itself as diarrhoea or ill thrift, in horses poor performance and even colic. With lungworms (mainly cattle) the presenting sign will be a nasty cough.

By the time you read this article, the grazing season is likely to be over and most livestock (sheep excluded) will be in winter accommodation. If animals have not been wormed at the end of the grazing season it would be a good idea for them to be treated. There is nothing to be gained from allowing parasites to survive the winter in animals and cause further problems again next year.

If your horse has not been wormed recently then now is also a good time for it to be done. At this time of year it is important to use a product which is effective against both roundworms AND tapeworms. If you share pasture with other horse owners try to coordinate the timing and type of wormer you use.

Finally, don't forget that cats and dogs also need to be wormed on a regular basis. Your vet will be able to advise on the most suitable products. Now that worms are dealt with, I'll let you get back to that spaghetti!!
